

CURRENT WEATHER

Today
 11°/23°

Tomorrow
 12°/19°

Tuesday
 10°/18°

Summery weather will still prevail on Sunday and longer sunny intervals are expected during the day. In the afternoon, scattered cumulus clouds will locally form, whereby the risk for thunderstorms will not be overly high. However, one or another thunderstorm cannot be fully excluded. At the beginning of next week, the air layers will generally become more unstable again. Consequently, bigger cumulus clouds will repeatedly interfere with the weather and result in scattered rain showers or thunderstorms. Sunny conditions are temporarily expected too. From midweek onwards, the wind will veer northwards and the temperatures will slowly decrease. Moreover, the weather will remain unsteady and rain showers are repeatedly expected.
